Flask in Brazil

Flask Conf in Florianópolis will be the second edition for the brazilian Flask developers community, a microframework built in Python used for web app development.

In the first edition (2018) we had 160+ attendees in the event, with a day dedicated to tutorials and another or tasks. In this edition we hope have more than 200+ attendees.

Florianópolis was elected as host city for this edition due High Python scene there in past few years.
